

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods of curing and processing poultry and meat products into fully-cooked slices. The method of the present invention immerses individual poultry and meat slices into a seasoning solution sufficient for the solution to permeate each slice followed by a single heating step that fully-cooks the slices to desired doneness.